“I-CAR AWARDS GOLD CLASS REPAIR STATUS TO BODYLINE MOTOR BODY REPAIRS”

I-CAR Australia CEO Mark Czvitkovits today announced that Bodyline Motor Body Repairs in Kogarah, Sydney has been awarded the prestigious I-CAR Gold Class Collision status.

“Craig and his team at Bodyline Motor Body Repairs have undergone continuous ongoing training, both with I-CAR and other Industry Training Alliance partners, to achieve Gold Class recognition,” explained Mr Czvitkovits.

Craig McGregor of Bodyline MBR said “We at Bodyline are very excited about achieving I-CAR Gold Class Status. With motor vehicles constantly changing and the complexity of the technology, repairers need to be highly skilled to repair these vehicles. It is imperative that the motor vehicle repair industry keeps abreast of these changes now and in the future.”

“For this reason we made the decision to expand our I-CAR training to achieve Gold Class Status. We are proud of our staff who helped us achieve this standard, their willingness to learn and progress. We acknowledge the importance of training and are confident of our future with I-CAR as our training partner,” added Mr McGregor.

“The team at Bodyline Motor Body Repairs have invested in the commitment to on-going training and education within the business and have now become the fifth business in Sydney to achieve the prestigious I-CAR Gold Class Collision status,” added Mr Czvitkovits.

For a repair facility to be eligible for the I-CAR® Gold Class Professional™, it must disclose all employees and accurately define job roles of Estimator, Non-Structural Technician, Structural Technician and Refinish Technician. Every technician in each of these roles must have achieved I-CAR® Platinum Individual™ recognition. The other employees within the shop must have completed a minimum training requirement.
