I-CAR AUSTRALIA ANNOUNCES RENEWAL OF PARTNERSHIP WITH PORSCHE CARS AUSTRALIA

Porsche Cars Australia have renewed their position as an I-CAR Australia member and Industry Alliance Partner for a further three years.

The complexity of collision repair has grown significantly within the past twenty years. Manufacturers such as Porsche demand the highest level of repair quality from their technicians, with expectations that all vehicles brought onto the workshop floor are returned to the driver emulating their pre-accident condition.

I-CAR Australia's specialist OEM programs has been comprehensively curated and reviewed to ensure the delivery of high quality, advanced collision repair training.

Following the ongoing success of the training programs, the continuation of the partnership will see delegates receive I-CAR training credits upon the completion of select accredited courses, indicating the technician's level of skill and knowledge.

"I-CAR Australia is privileged to be entrusted with the delivery of the factory body technician training program to those within the Porsche Certified Collision Centres and the re-signing of this agreement ensures the continuity and growth of the training pathway for the immediate future" said I-CAR Australia Chief Operations Officer, Jason Trewin.

"We are delighted to continue our Partnership with I-CAR Australia. Our commitment to training the Porsche Certified Collision Centres through our investment with I-CAR ensures the very best care and attention for our customers and their cars" said Harry Aspiotis, Porsche Cars Australia's Regional Manager (Collision Centres).

I-CAR, founded in 1979, is an international, not-for-profit, training organization dedicated to improving the quality, safety and efficiency of auto collision repair for the ultimate benefit of the consumer.
